Consider adventure holidays in Montenegro

08 February 2011

Jet-setters keen to experience some adventure while away might want to stay in the accommodation Montenegro has on offer and prepare themselves for a thrilling time.

Shannon Stowell, president of the Adventure Travel Trade Association, told Travel & Tourism News that this region is definitely one to watch for anyone eager to try certain activities while away.

Discussing tourism trends overall, Mr Stowell went on to note that adventure tourism as a sector does seem to be growing rapidly, while there is also an increased demand for sustainable and authentic travel.

"We see that people like to adventure during the day and have a nice place to stay at night with a good meal," he remarked.

Skiing might be one pastime adventurers want to try out and online news source Argophilia recently confirmed that there are several tracks in Zabljak, Montenegro, that can be tackled, such as Stuoc and Savin Kuk.
